1. INTRODUCTION

In the conditions of educational reform taking place in our republic, the most important thing is to educate people who are loyal to their homeland, People, mother, husband, nation, parents in every way. In the updated state system, the content of upbringing is updated in both maksad and functions. This update differs primarily in that education is built on the basis of the principles of humanism and democracy. As President Of The Republic Of Uzbekistan M. Mirziyoyev noted, "education is the most important and priority issue of any state and society, which decides not only today, but also tomorrow. Therefore, in our country, great attention is paid to this issue at the state level" [1, 353]. In fact, today the qualitative Organization of the educational and educational process is becoming more relevant than ever before.

Humanization and democratization of education the principlesyip students, teachers and educators develop their creative activity and independence, which serves as a guideline for their cooperation in the implementation of various socially useful works.

A special role is played by spiritual and educational activities carried out in higher educational institutions for the formation of creative activity, intellectual intelligence, moral potential, scientific worldview, their active participation in social and useful work with wide coverage.

Accordingly, we will consider in this article on the spiritual and educational activity in educational institutions, its planning, organization, principleses forms.

Love for his country, Homeland, feelings of humanism is an age-old feature that is absorbed in the blood of our people. The issue of preserving these unique human qualities and further improving the free and Democratic upbringing of our children as worthy sons and daughters of Uzbekistan should be the main direction of our work in the sphere of spirituality. Therefore, it is necessary to clearly plan spiritual and educational activities in educational institutions, to create a system of spiritual and educational upbringing, to focus its forms and techniques on the formation of the spiritual and educational worldview of the younger generation. The sum of any upbringing, event, spiritual and educational activity will be targeted only in the destiny based on them, when certain rules and requirements are observed. These rules, requirements, bases are called "Principlesips" in pedagogical science.

Hence, spiritual and educational activity also applies to certain principlescypes. Principles of spiritual and educational activity-this is the expression of adherence to the direction, content, methods and organizational forms of educational activities organized in educational institutions in the max of upbringing a harmonious generation, the main requirements for the interaction of participants in the educational process.
2. MAIN PART

Principles of spiritual and educational activity are considered as the sum of the requirements, rules that guide teachers and educators, it is determined by the tasks of educating a competent person and reflect its laws based on the universal education doctrine and achievements of scientific pedagogical knowledge. Therefore adhering to these Principles in the process of spiritual and educational activity increases its effectiveness in weight loss, developing a quality indicator.

Based on the current theories of world and national pedagogy, the principles of spiritual and educational activity can be grouped as follows:

- social orientation of spiritual and educational activity principles;
- principles of volunteerism, Independence, play and romance;
- the point of view of creativity, initiative, striving for innovation in the work the principle of approach from the point of view;
- the planning of spiritual and educational activities and ensuring that the activities are compatible with the power of students;
- the principles of regularity, duration, continuity and impressiveness of spiritual and educational activity;
- it is the principles of taking into account the age and individual characteristics of educators in the organization of spiritual and educational activities.

Now we proceed to the description of the Principles of this spiritual and educational activity:

- A principle of the social direction of spiritual and educational activity. This principle implies social development in the organization and implementation of spiritual and educational activities, connection with the development of the country’s ideological, political, socio-economic and spiritual-cultural development, the content of work to be organized outside the classroom and the audience, the activities of circles, clubs, associations, as well as the basis for the achievements of Science, Technology, Culture, Art.

- The principle of volunteerism of participation in spiritual and educational activities. This principle is a spiritual and educational activity organized in educational institutions by faculties, clubs, various sectors, clubs, etc. the G. the focus will be on the choice of the students participating in the study, depending on their interest, desire, ability, and on ensuring that these are voluntary. The principles of volunteerism also implies taking into account the volunteerism of the students, so as not to overexert and strain them, taking into account the fact that the extracurricular activities organized in educational institutions are not more than two.

- In spiritual and educational activity, students-principles types to take into account the independence, initiative, creativity of young people. This presupposes the need to organize spiritual and educational work on the basis of interests, initiatives of principle students. Any action should first of all be based on the independence of the students, the teacher-educator should authorize them, develop their activities. Then the students develop initiative, interests, creative abilities. They learn to perform any event independently on the initiative, with interest in a high-rise spirit. In them, a sense of self-control develops.

- The principle of educational activities in the form of entertainment, romance. It is expedient to apply this principle mainly to junior and high school students. Because small and high school age students mostly feel more need for gaming activities. But the spiritual and educational activities organized in these educational institutions are aimed at the direction, content, methods, organizational forms of education, the main requirements for the interaction of the participants in the educational process.

- Principle to take into account the age and individual characteristics of students in spiritual and educational activities. In this principle, the functions, content of the activities correspond to the age and level of preparation of students, and they should avoid adversely affecting their health, their worldview, their spiritual and moral potential, their mental intelligence.

To the saved principles of spiritual and educational activity based on their integrity, mutual cooperation, mutual complementarily, effective use of them, students’ educational, educational and developmental activities are guaranteed to be put on the target path, the formation of a harmonious person as a full-fledged person.

3. THEORETICAL ANALYSES

The purposeful organization, orientation of spiritual and educational activities is to determine its content with a clear definition and development. If the content and the plan are organized in a disproportionate way, the intended goal will not be realized. Accordingly, a person is brought up incorrectly, from which both society and man suffer, and the person himself. So it is necessary to clearly define the content and plan it correctly. Otherwise, the great thinker Bedil, as they say, if the architect did not correctly lay the first brick, the wall would still be crooked, even if it reached the stars. This opinion of Bedil is related to spiritual and educational activity. As long as it is necessary, therefore, to accurately visualize the content of spiritual and educational activity, to correctly specify and plan its directions.

Spiritual and educational activity is the process of finding, developing the content of intellectual intelligence and spiritual and moral potential in accordance with the goals and objectives of a particular society, enriching the inner world, which represents the essence of man in the quality of socio-cultural existence, encourages him to spiritual purification and Ascension. Accordingly, the definition and planning of the content of spiritual and educational activities carried out in higher educational institutions in the socio-political, economic and cultural development of society in the following directions is in demand.

- Organizational and educational work
- Ideological (ideological-political) education imposes on students social activity and attitude to study.
- Formation of the foundations of the scientific worldview, deepening and expanding knowledge, increasing cognitive activity.
- Education of universal, national ethics and culture of conduct.
- Beauty, elegance and artistic education.

To organize scientific, technical, cultural, sports and Physical Culture associations of public organizations, to establish activities in cooperation with public organizations such as the Youth Union, Trade Union, Women's party. After the lesson, establish pedagogical leadership over spiritual and educational work of students. The work on the mentioned spiritual and educational direction is planned in the academic year. On the basis of the annual plan, monthly and weekly managed work is drawn up.

In order to carry out spiritual and educational activities in the directions mentioned above, the work is drawn up and planned for the academic year or the main year.

Spiritual and educational activity is organized in different forms. This can be divided into about three groups:

- Individual (individual) Affairs.
- Works circle.
- Mass work.

Individual spiritual and educational activities include Olympiads, competitions with senior students, courses, visions. Although many participate in this form of events, we call it individual spiritual and educational activity, since each participant individually participates in it, protects the educational institution, the region by a certain type of event. Scientists of science-this is the most important means of developing interest in knowledge. Its educational value is that, although it is conducted in a certain science, the individual assignments, questions that are formed in it, serve to develop the creative thinking of the student, to seek knowledge.

The choice of individual spiritual and educational activity and the type in the form of a spectacle also develop creativity, purposefulness for students and young people. For example: the student participates in such contests and exhibitions as "mohir Eller", "technical creativity", "poetry mask", each of which demonstrates his creativity, ability, talent. These competitions start from the institution of higher education and bring up feelings of responsibility, pride, struggle for Honor in the student due to the fact that they are held at the Republican level.

4. RESULTS

At present, the most common form of spiritual and educational activity in educational institutions is the work of this circle. Circles of Science in higher education institutions, artistic amateur, photo, radio, cinema clubs, "young literate", "young bookstore", "young educator" and clubs also have great educational significance.

Participation in clubs and clubs along with the development of cognitive abilities, creative thinking serves students kuchaytirishga their responsibility before the country, Vatan, the people and therefore serves to increase the spiritual and educational potential of the younger generation.

Another form of spiritual-educational activity is mass events. To this, there are fairy tales, themed evenings, dispatches, question-and-answer nights, conferences, festivities, sports holidays and games, excursions, etc.products included.

So kilib is a wide coverage of spiritual and educational activity. After all, spirituality and enlightenment is a higher value. It reflects the traditions of our people, the teachings of our thinkers, the way of life of our historical national heroes, the hard life of those who fought for independence and freedom. Therefore, it is also a high value. He accomplishes such a great goal as educating a perfect person according to his directions.

5. CONCLUSION

If we carry out the above-mentioned thoughts, works, spiritual and educational activity has reached its provisions, the foundation stone for the formation of a harmonious generation will be laid. To do this, it is necessary to constantly research, try to lose weight. It is necessary to make maximum use of the opportunities in spiritual and educational activities. Thus, the spiritual and educational activity, organized in educational institutions, increases the thirst of students and young people for knowledge, along with the development of mental well-being and intelligence, creates the basis for their spiritual harmonious upbringing.
