Learning Gender Relationship

Ravshanova Dilfuza Sherali qizi
"Family and wife-girls" in Parvoz MFY, Kashkadarya region

Abstract: The article presents a detailed opinion on the issue of gender equality between women and girls. The reforms that will take place in the world and in Uzbekistan are widely covered.

Keywords: gender, law, substance, antiphon, UN, UNICEF, women.

It is known that the law of the Republic of Uzbekistan "On guarantees of equal rights and opportunities for women and men" adopted on September 2, 2019 was approved as a legal protection and legal guarantee aimed at the place of women in society. The good thing is that since thousands of years, the issue of inequality between men and women in society and the issue of solving it has always been relevant. In particular, as stated in Article 1 of the law, the purpose of the law is to regulate relations in the field of ensuring equal rights and opportunities for women and men. At the moment, there are still a large number of family disputes, cases of non-recognition of women's rights by men, and in some cases, the rights and opportunities of women are not given enough importance in society. legal documents on guarantees of equal rights and opportunities consist of this Law and other legal documents. If the international agreement of the Republic of Uzbekistan stipulates different provisions than those stipulated in the legislation of the Republic of Uzbekistan on guarantees of equal rights and opportunities for women and men, the provisions of the international agreement shall be applied. The law also mentions the concept of gender, according to which gender is the relationship between women and men in all spheres of social life and activity, including politics, economy, law, ideology and culture, and the social aspect manifested in the fields of science is shown. Therefore, the concept of gender does not represent only the interests of women. Perhaps the fact that representatives of both sexes are boldly walking towards their dreams and goals suggests that they should be given the same opportunity to improve the quality of life. One of the demands of a developed society is the provision of equal rights for men and women. In fact, ancient Greek scholars such as Socrates, Aristotle, and Plato thought of a society where equality and justice prevailed in the society as the best state. As the best laws, they put forward the laws that guarantee the equality of all. The idea of equality between men and women was used by the Greek scientist Antiphon in his writings. One of the scientists, Abu Nasr Farabi, in his book "The City of Virtuous People" noted that a country where equality reigned as a country striving for virtue, while in 1791, the declaration of citizenship and women's rights prepared by Olympia De Gouge stated that women have the right to think freely and express their opinions for the first time. acknowledged. If we pay attention to the legal development of gender equality, first of all, it is permissible to analyze the historical-theoretical and legal aspects of the legal foundations of gender equality, international and national legislation. Of course, we all know that the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, adopted by the UN General Assembly in 1948, specifically recognized the equality of men and women. are born as They have been given reason and conscience, so they should treat each other in a spirit of brotherhood. Article 3 of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, another international document adopted by the UN in 1966, states that "States participating in this Covenant shall guarantee to men and women all the civil and political rights provided for in this Covenant." undertakes to ensure uniform use". It is this international norm in Article 2 of the Law "On Guarantees of Equal Rights and Opportunities for Women and Men" that states "Legislative documents on guarantees of equal rights and opportunities for women and men, this Law and other laws is the practical and legal basis of the article "consists of documents". Therefore, the reason why our independent country, which has ratified the above-mentioned international documents, attaches serious importance to the issue of equality of women and men in its national legislation based on the generally recognized requirements of international law.

Another legal guarantee of this basis is that "Women and men have equal rights" in Article 46 of the Constitution of the Republic of Uzbekistan. Therefore, both international legal and constitutional legal basis of gender equality is guaranteed. Gender equality also means social equality. In order to ensure such equality, it is not enough to include the necessary provisions in the Constitution and laws. Therefore, special attention is paid to "Raising legal culture in society". Because even in these testing days, i.e., during the quarantine period, we witnessed that doctors, internal affairs, and even National Guard employees worked side by side with men. Despite the quarantine, we have witnessed that there were no interruptions or shortages in the provision of medical masks, medical clothes, and necessary tools. The ancient Hippocratic oath of our doctors is known to everyone. We are also witnesses of the joy of our citizens who have recovered thanks to the hard work of our doctors who have been working day and night for human health. Peace and economic stability are being ensured in our society as a result of comprehensive reforms that are being implemented consistently. Daily life experience shows that the equal rights of men and women play an important role in the well-being of the people, social peace and economic stability. Laws and programs developed at the state level to ensure gender equality are also important. Even according to the results of the research conducted by the World Economic Forum (The Global Gender Gap), women work 35 days more than men in a year. According to research by the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), girls spend 35-36 percent more time doing something than boys. This shows that gender equality is still not being achieved in the world. Therefore, the Law of the Republic of Uzbekistan "On Guarantees of Equal Rights and Opportunities for Women and Men" adopted on September 2, 2019 recognizes gender equality in our country, is a comprehensive and basic legal document aimed at providing With this law, the concept of "gender" was defined for the first time in our national legislation. According to it, the main directions of the state policy in the field of equal rights and opportunities for women and men, as well as the mechanisms of state management in this field, were determined. In particular, in order to prevent gender discrimination of women, a commission on ensuring gender equality was established in the Republic of Uzbekistan. implementation of the policy, participation in the development and implementation of state programs, national action plans and strategies in this field, annual submission of information to the Oliy Majlis of the Republic of Uzbekistan on the work done in this field, equal rights for women and men and It consists of cooperation with international organizations and relevant bodies of foreign countries in the field of ensuring opportunities and compliance with international standards. In the era of rapid changes in life, people try to keep up with the times, as society progresses. This also applies to women. now women are only engaged in housework and child rearing, and the idea of "either family or work" hinders gender equality. We see that one of the most acute problems of development is achieving equality, especially achieving gender equality of men and women both in society and in the family is one of the most difficult issues. Unfortunately, women are often left out of the development process, and even if they participate in it, they achieve it at the expense of great difficulties and even losses (in most cases, family disputes, divorces). In order to prevent this situation, Article 25 of the law states that "Housework cannot be the basis for direct or indirect discrimination based on gender, it is performed equally by women and men." It is Article 21 that guarantees equal rights and opportunities for women and men in labor relations. Today, ensuring women's employment is one of the priority areas of socio-economic development, an important condition for raising the standard and quality of life of the people. At the initiative of the women's committees, more than 2,700 small workshops were established at the expense of renovating and operating empty buildings, providing employment for about 18,000 women. In order to attract women to entrepreneurship and to develop family entrepreneurship, the allocation of loans has increased significantly in recent years. If we adopt laws and do not ensure that the legal consciousness and legal culture of the population are high enough to implement them, we will continue to face artificial obstacles. It is noteworthy that in today's modernized society, due to the widespread involvement of women in politics and economy, changes, shifts, and even achievements in terms of gender equality are visible. It is a fact that women are working in the state administration, judicial system, internal affairs, and customs system. Because in this regard, Chapter 4 of this law is devoted to "Guarantees of equal rights and opportunities for women and men in the exercise of electoral rights" and Article 18 guarantees equal rights and opportunities for women and men in the exercise of electoral rights. It is noted that women and men have equal rights in electing and being elected to representative bodies of power. Political parties provide equal rights and opportunities for women and men when nominating candidates for the Legislative Chamber of the Oliy Majlis of the Republic of Uzbekistan and local Councils of People's Deputies. Many people support our women governors, even now society they are also getting used to the large participation of women in their work. For example, husbands of women actively participating in community work are understanding and supporting her. While taking part in various activities along with raising a child, she unknowingly gets involved in politics. In addition to having equal rights with men, women have had the opportunity to show themselves in politics. The fact that gender equality is important in social relations, which is important for the development of society, is becoming more evident today. Today, as a result of special attention being paid to increasing the activity of women in the family and society, especially in social life, great changes are being made in social relations and legislation. not completely lost. Therefore, this law provides for the issuance of a protection order to the victims to protect them from harassment and violence. Today, centers for rehabilitation and adjustment of victims of the use of violence were established in the regions. The only short-numbered (1146) "Hotline" of the Women's Committee in the republic was established, and a system of receiving women's appeals was established 24 hours a day.... What does this mean? For example, if a husband and wife fight, if the husband uses force or pressure on the wife, and it is proven, the husband can be restricted from direct or indirect contact with the woman for up to 30 days. In fact, any violence against women is prohibited in all intelligent societies. , among others, is condemned in Islam. Violence against women is considered aggression. No force, violence, hitting, beating can be used against them. It is intended to advise, if he is not blind, to gently push and warn, and if he is not also blind, to leave him in his bed. Therefore, the law consists of Article 32, Article 29 states that "Persons guilty of violating the legal documents on guarantees of equal rights and opportunities for women and men shall be held accountable in accordance with the established procedure, and Article 30 It is noted that the Cabinet of Ministers of the Republic of Uzbekistan and other interested organizations ensure the implementation of this Law, its delivery to the executors, and the explanation of its essence and importance among the population. So, in the society we live in, there is always a way to listen to something, you just need to convey it to our people.

References:
6. Jins tasvirlardaring yoshi va psixologik xususiyatlarni. // Oila psixologiyasi va oilaviy terapiya, 2008, № 1.

